Any feedback or issues, please let us know by commenting below or email us via I have a database with 4 tables, one for each type of device that is imported to the database. Table 1 is for devices imported with basic text import. Table 2 is for devices imported using USB chargers. Table 3 is for devices imported using Applescripts. Table 4 is for devices imported using both USB chargers and Applescripts. The relevant columns to insert new phone and it's relevant information, is in the "device.txt" file. (Another table, that also has to be modified is "device_error.txt" in case the iphone rejects it) Now I want to insert the information from the devices.txt into the tables and it's relevant information, and the rest of the columns it already has. I tried to write a query where I will search for the first word from the "device.txt", then search for the sub string in the columns. Then after that search for what the rest of the device.txt contains. The problem is that I can't find a way to do this in Access. If anyone has an idea how I could do this? Sorry for the bad wording, I am not a

What's New in the JSMS?

These days, smartphones are becoming more and more important. Most of the communication is going through mobile phones. As much as we can do on the internet through the computer screen, there is a limit to what you can do on your mobile phone. The same thing is applicable for sending and receiving text messages through the mobile phone. If you receive text messages, you need to use your SIM card. Using your SIM card can get expensive and is not really that convenient. In these days of technology, you can do your SMS on the web. Of course, you will have to go through some websites to do this, but this can be made convenient. With the SMS API, you can send SMS using PHP, HTML, Java and whatever you like. With the SMS API, you will always have a reliable SMS service available for you. The SMS API does not depend on many things. It gives you the freedom to choose the easiest ways for your SMS. From the publisher, SMS API is one of the most reliable SMS API providers. Update: Not longer uses SMS API to send SMS, the last SMS API will be retained for support, but only for the last SMS API of ssmaxim. This is the final version. The SMS API was something that was stable and reliable, almost 20 years ago, when I first heard of it. Now, however, it is becoming unreliable and unfriendly and I am starting to avoid using it. This is a turn off, very turn off. If you have a hand full of SMS you send, I recommend you give my new 'SMS API Send SMS' a try, as it works like the old SMS API. Here is what you need to do to test the SMS API. Use a SMS provider website, such as to send some SMS to numbers you want. Don't use the numbers you get on your mobile phone, as they are a mystery and it will be difficult to find the account for these numbers. Once you've done that, go to an online SMS provider that supports SMS API and create an account, with a free SMS sending plan. Once that is setup, you need to use the 'Test' button and see how it works for you. This will automatically send an SMS message of a pred
