And many are now predicting that Arsenal may not be able to keep hold of the duo in January, should their performances at Upton Park turn out well. "I'm delighted," Iwobi told Arsenal.com after the move was agreed. "I've been in contact with my family, the coaches and the boss and I'm happy to be here. "I'm happy to be playing in a league which is closer to my home so I can see my family and friends more. It's the Premier League which I wanted to be part of, for sure. I missed the Champions League last year and I'd like to contribute and make my first-team debut. "You look around and there are good teams in the Premier League, but I think we can make a good season here. We've got a strong squad and I think we can go far." Wenger, who has previously stated that he wants to keep a number of players beyond this season, will need to add at least one new player in January. But Iwobi is convinced

I need to make a folder called "generator", inside my react project, for this to work: I followed a number of these steps, but got stuck on step 7, and after I set the destination to: "../generator" After that, I removed everything except for the "webpack.config.js" and "package.json" files. After doing that, I deleted the "node_modules" folder, then ran the project to see if it would rebuild the components, and it didn't work. The only difference between this and the first file, is that it now looks like this:A University of Michigan medical student was one of two Americans who were killed Thursday in a shooting at a nightclub in Istanbul. The student, Zaher Wahba, 22, was in the United States on a Fulbright scholarship, and was a first-year student at the U-M School of Dentistry, said a university statement released Thursday night. His roommate at the six-month program was injured in the shooting, according to the statement. "The U of M School of Dentistry family is heartbroken by this tragic loss," Dean of School of Dentistry Daniel R. Schmitt said in a statement. "Our deepest sympathies are with Zaher's family and friends during this difficult time." Wahba, from Beirut, Lebanon, was studying at the University of Michigan to become a dentist. "Dr. Zaher Wahba left the world with his ideals and hopes fully intact and with his heart full of love for his family, for his future wife and children, and most of all, for dentistry," said Schmitt. The global dental community is also mourning his loss. Dr. Ali Bux, chair of the University of Michigan's Department of Dental Medicine and a colleague of Wahba's in Lebanon, said he was a diligent, active and outgoing student. "It is with
